Accent On Action

. . . In Activities

A school is like a mobile, for as a mobile is forever changing, never static, so the life in a school is constantly moving, reflecting all phases of its multitude of activities in a shifting, abstract, many-sided pattern -

And keeping the pieces moving in harmony with one another, tying it all together is - - - ACTION.

Accent On Action

. . . In Organizations

Cogs in the wheel of humming school life are organizations.

Action is varied in a large group but through the medium of clubs common interests are realized.

Each group striving toward a fixed goal, experiences an energetic and exciting year.

Those who respond with their services, talents, and time, find the reward of satisfaction in achievement.

Honor Society Climbs Pathway To Success

How well I remember the day I was taken as a member into the National Honor Society. As I was walking toward the stage, I felt a tense numbness run over my body. But yet I had such a proud feeling, a feeling that I had accomplished a great deal. A lump appeared in my throat, as I thought that I must have met the approval of the faculty. I knew that the teachers of L. H. S. had to vote me into this society. As I took the vows of the club, I also told myself that I would do my best to stay a member.

As I look back on that spring day of the annual induction ceremony, I feel that through my years of membership, I have upheld the qualities of character, citizenship, scholarship, and leadership.

This year was a very prosperous year for the Honor Society. Of course without our advisor, Mrs. Virginia Hawker, we would have never gotten through the various responsibilities which we had.

The Honor Society carried out various activities this year as they do each year. The most joyous project was the decoration of the school for Christmas, when the members decorated the halls with wreaths and a Christmas tree.

One of the many activities of this organization is the annual Recognition Banquet, which is held to honor all outstanding students. The Student Council also sponsors the class tournament and sends a student each year to the Student Council Convention at Jackson's Mill.

The Student Council holds an annual election in which the officers are elected to hold offices the following year.

The Home Economics club is one of the busiest and most versatile clubs in our school.

The girls enjoy decorating the tables in our lunchroom for the special Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. These decorations always prove to be of great interest to our students and guests.

During the late spring the girls enjoyed planning, preparing, and serving their Mother and Daughter Banquet. At this time they displayed their projects and talents to their mothers.

Other activities that they participate in is serving the Recognition Banquet for the top students and a planned tour of interesting industries and recreational facilities in our locality.

Membership into this club is by invitation from active members, after which they are initiated. This event is enjoyed by all old and new members.

"Action! Action! We want Action!" How familiar those words are to me. It seems like only yesterday that football season started; but here it is - my last basketball game.

I can remember our devoted pep club members which kept the spirit of our team so high during the crucial moments of a game. They always backed the team and cheerleaders by yelling themselves hoarse at the games. Win or lose, the members showed good sportsmanship and never gave the team or the cheerleaders any reason to doubt their loyalty.

Now, I realize that we have arrived at our destination. The boys have gone to get dressed, and we are getting ready to go into the gym for the game. Pep club members are right on the front row of the bleachers.

Win or lose, I know the cheering section and we, the cheerleaders, will do our best to back the team, the school, and the coaches.

B. A. A. Encourages Sportsmanship

The Boy's Athletic Club, sponsored by Mr. Frank Girolinto and Mr. Frank Spadafore, have a grand time each year. Our club is the biggest money-maker in the school. The main proceeds come from the Annual Gold Cup Tournaments which are held each spring at the Limerport Gym.

The money we make from the tournaments is used to purchase athletic equipment. We also have an outing each spring. We invite our parents and have a wonderful time. Most of our outings have been held at Lake Riley in Weston.

We hold one of the most hilarious events of the year when initiation time rolls around. We always have a good turn out of new members. They go through hair-raising and unforgettable experiences. One of the most unforgettable experiences is having to dress in a funny sort of way and come to school to be the old members' slaves for the rest of the day. This initiation is made by the old members.

F.T.A. Members Gain Knowledge For Future Careers

The Future Teachers of America, under the leadership of Mrs. Glenda Spry and Miss Helen Stephens, had a very successful year. Four members attended the state teachers' meeting October 10-11 at the armory in Clarksburg, and served as usherettes.

Some of the members attended a party held at the Y.W.C.A. for county members and their sponsors on October 16.

The F.T.A. encourages young people to cultivate in themselves the qualities of personality and character which are the foundations of successful teaching, to acquaint them with the story of schools and the part they have played in the development of our democratic way of life. The F.T.A. provides young people with specific information about opportunities in the various fields of education.

High school students interested in becoming teachers are eligible for membership in the high school F.T.A. chapter. Jennifer Audia was elected Future Teacher of the Month for December, 1966.

Lumberjack Covers All Important School Events

News! This is the main interest of the Lumberjack, our school newspaper.

Journalism classes, which consist of forty-four competent staff members, who edit and publish the Lumberjack, are under the direction of Miss JoAnn Jones.

Reporters gather and write news items from each club and class in the entire school. All special events, such as ball games, dances, and assemblies, are covered by various staff members.

The Lumberjack, published every two weeks, is full of interesting items not only to school students and teachers, but also to the citizens of our community.

MR. JAMES MENEAR
(Instructor)

Blasting horns, pounding drums, and rhythmic marches was the beginning of the 1963-64 season under the direction of Mr. James Menear.

During the year the band participated in the home games by playing from the sidelines and performing at halftime.

In the month of November the band marched in Clarksburg, playing along with the other bands they celebrated the W. Va. Centennial with special songs.

To boost their Treasury the Band Patrons Club sold birthday calenders at the beginning of the year. New uniforms were ordered in January and arrived in time for the annual "Rating Day" held in Clarksburg during May.

Besides taking part in assemblies a concert is given annually by the band in early spring.

Members serving as "Peace Council" during the year were Gary Davis as president, Carolyn Garett as Vice-President and Karen Lawson as Secretary and Treasurer.

Hours of laying out, typing, proofreading, picture taking and selling advertisements, were put in by this year's Eagle Staff.

The theme Accent on Action was developed while staff members and advisor attended Ohio University journalism workshop last summer. New techniques were discussed and used.

Now we look back and realize that the panic sessions, the mounds of photos and papers, and the grey hairs added to Mrs. Taylor's head, represent to us the high points of this school year.

Indeed we sincerely hope that you, the reader, will enjoy reliving a few moments of this year with the compliments of the 1964 Eagle Staff.

Accent On Action . . . In Academics

Academic Action emerges in a correct answer, a moving pencil, an oil painting, a report card, a notebook, a science project.

This subdued form of Action can be found in a classroom recitation, in an experiment, in a laboratory, or among the stacked shelves of the library.

Teachers Carol Bee, Nancy Conwell, and Jo Ann Jones take time out for a coffee break as students enjoy a movie.

I write this during a period of deepest sorrow. Our President is dead - struck down by an assassin's bullet in a moment of despicable hatred.

How closely this tragedy parallels the assassination of another great President, almost one hundred years ago. How related were the ideals of these two leaders? Each had similar thoughts concerning the rights, liberties, and tolerance of mankind. Each was struck down because of his beliefs.

Perhaps their ideas stem from the emergence of the Magna Carta when the feeble light of freedom was but a flickering ray.

If I might ask of you as members of the graduating class one thing it would be this: Do everything you can in your daily walk of life to help erase from the minds of men these terrible outbursts of hatred that cause such deplorable deeds to be committed.

May the noble aspirations of these men convey to us our obligations to preserve the rights and liberties of our fellow men.

Faculty Maintains Student Interest

The faculty, unlike the students, are a permanent integral part of a school. The student comes as a seventh grader and six years later he graduates as a mature senior. Upon his graduation his contribution to the school is complete. The faculty member spends his entire career giving of himself to the school - in his knowledge, interest and friendship.

In the classroom, the teacher interprets his knowledge and experiences to the student. Through his guidance, he hopes to help the students grow toward the maturity each one is seeking.

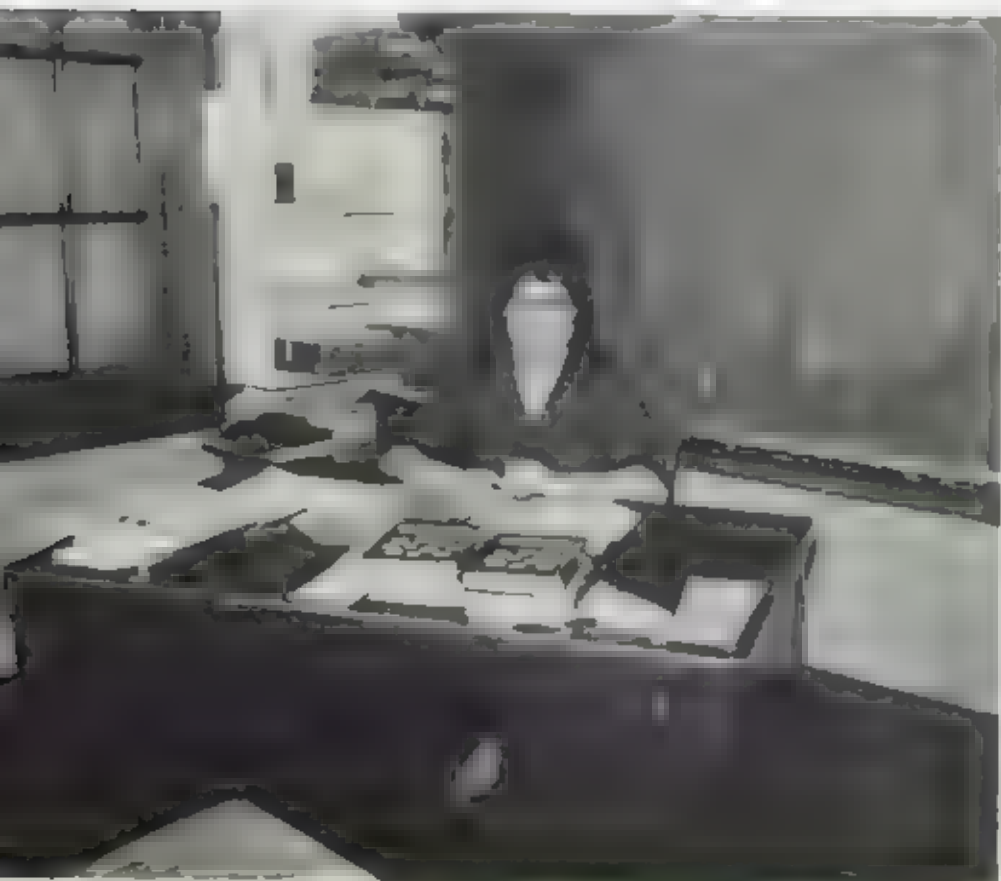

It is the faculty who have put the educational building block of Lumberport High in place and who have made it not just a building but an edifice of learning.

The Passing Scene

We are a part of it. We live in it. We touch it and it touches us. It is a thousand things happening simultaneously.

It is . . . ACTION

There is joy, laughter, music, chatter and nonsense. It is froth. It lasts for only a brief moment. It is the wonderful season of youth when everything is wonderful, it is now.

It is . . . ACTION

The things that happen each day. The faces, the places, the victories, the defeats, the dozens of big and little events. All this is a part of our lives and the things we will remember.

This is . . . ACTION

Accent On Action . . . In Advertising

School and advertisers are as closely integrated as the parts of a mobile.

While school functions rely upon local merchants and industrialists for support and backing, these same advertisers depend upon the student body as present and future customers.

Here the accent is on the cash register, medium between consumer and supplier.

And action is in the purchasing and dispensing, buying and selling, the eternal pursuit.

Our town as seen by students on the hill at L. H. S. on a cold snowy day.

Your New Home

This may seem to be a strange subject to discuss now, but in not too many years you will probably be building or buying a new house.

There is no time like the present to make plans for a Total Electric future. Only Electricity can give you the cleanliness and efficiency so necessary for the maintenance of a modern attractive home - your home.
